Two bilingual workshops facilitated

"This experience has been a wonderful benefit not only for me, but also for the children at my daycare. The children are learning where food comes from and are excited to water the plants, watch them grow, and taste the fresh vegetables. The garden has supported their physical development through digging and planting, their cognitive skills through asking questions and discovering, and their social-emotional growth through working as a team and taking pride in caring for the garden.

This program has truly inspired healthier habits and a deeper connection with nature for all of us."
